HAPPY HALLOWEEN

4th Match

The last Quidditch game between Judge and the Hex before today was a spectacular mix of hard play and surprising trickery.

It was a cold, overcast day at Southridge Park, the perfect setting for the two teams' longest game to date. For an hour Utah's greatest players competed like never before. Most unexpected were the impressive number of beater strikes to each team's Seeker in the last half of the game, tagging each out multiple times. However it was still a high scoring game, even benefiting from one score from Hex's Keeper, Jared England.

Josh Shrewsbury, the UQO's star Snitch Runner stole the show with a raised level of Snitchery – stealing headbands, brooms, kicking the Quaffle out of play, and knocking over hoops rendering them unusable during the game!

The match ended with a the Hex's snatch, bringing the score to Hex: 190, JM: 100. "It was intense." stated Niel Burk, Referee. "A long game of endurance. Each team really kept the pace up with a real spirit of competition"
